FRIENDLY TO SILVER.

Harrison to Definitely Outline His Financial Policy.

Suggestions to be Contained in the Annual Message.

Friends of Silver to Have no Cause for Complaint

The Administration's Attitude Creates Some Surprise.

The Financial Policy.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The message of President Harrison and Secretary Windom's report to congress. Enough is known to justify the statement that there will be some definite recommendation as to silver legislation which will satisfy the country at large and please everybody except Wall street speculators and a few professional monometallists cranks and theorists, the remainder of General Harrison's term those who believe in silver as the money of the people will have no cause for complaint

The language of the president and his secretary of the treasury is taken to mean ultimate free coinage but that will be a matter for congress finally to determine. For the present the executive and his advisers will be satisfied to point out that the prophecy of disaster which was made by the anti silver partisans for the years past had been discredited; that silver has been performing the most useful part in financial adjustments going on, and the time is not perhaps far distant when instead of the minimum limit of $2,000,000 per month, the maximum limit of $4,000,000 may be safely taken up by the business interests of the country

No specific recommendations are likely to appear in detail in the report of the secretary of the treasury, but leading suggestions may be confidently looked for in the president's message. It will be the plan of the treasury department to proceed slowly, in order that there may be no opportunity for the alarmists to raise a scare and no step will be taken until the sense of congress has been shown forth and it may be that before the minimum limit of coinage is increased a resolution directing such an increase will be passed.

The news of the friendly attitude of the Harrison administration is apt to create a whirling of a sensation among the countrymen, most of whom have supposed it would take an entirely neutral stand if even a doubt existed regarding the probable attitude of a majority in both houses of congress. Whatever doubt may have existed has been dispatched by the adoption of the new states where the senators and representatives will be all arrayed on the side of silver. This question is likely to have an important bearing on the speakership contest and it will be distinctly against Reed, who has been lead ly opposed to silver.

Ruin in the Storm.

DENVER, November 1.—The snow storm which has been raging for forty-eight hours abated to day. The storm is the worst that has been experienced in several years. All trains are delayed and telegraphic communication with all western points destroyed. Three hundred miles east of here over fifteen miles of telegraph line is completely wrecked. In Colorado the damage to fruit and shade trees is considerable. Reports from the south say that the storm has driven thousands of cattle and horses off of their range into the southeast and that hundreds of the weak animals have perished in the blizzard.

A Mysterious Prisoner.

DENVER, November 1.—The man recently arrested at Bellevue, Colo., while masquerading in woman's clothes and going under the name of Eva Craig, and who was thought to be Tascott the murderer of Millionaire Snell, of Chicago, came to Colorado from Colfax, Washington territory. He is now very ill with typhoid fever and in case the physicians declare his case hopeless he promises to make a confession which will send some one to the gallows. In his trunk were found letters from Fayetteville, Ind., Gloversville and Hooker, N. Y., and Colfax Washington territory, addressed to Philo Boland in care of Eva Craig. It is supposed that Boland was the name by which he was known at these places

The Three Engineers.

DENVER, November 1.—The locomotive engineers to day refused to adopt the articles of federation. The plan presented to the convention is understood to be the same as presented to the convention at Atlanta. Upon the suggestion of Chief Arthur the convention appointed a committee of five with instructions to prepare a new proposition of federation which shall be presented to each division of the brotherhood for their acceptance or rejection. Every lodge adopting this new plan will be permitted to form a federation with any labor organizations named in the article such federation to stand only until said article is acted upon by the next annual convention at Pittsburg. As Arthur will have the appointment of this committee it is believed he will name a man who opposed federation and who will do little to bring about its final adoption. The convention has yet to audit a few claims against the charity fund make some amendments to the insurance rules receive the report of the committee on constitution now in session and will then be ready to adjourn.

Wrecked and Lost.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., November 1.—A private dispatch from San Francisco reports the loss in the Arctic ocean of the whaling steamer Lucretia of this port. No particulars have been received. The Lucretia was owned by Captain Lewis and others of this city and sailed with her outfit at $40 000.

Their Lives Thought to Be Safe.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The state department in connection with sending circulars requesting public contributions to the officials of the Jeannette at Washington is again under consideration by the civil service commission. The commission is waiting for further evidence.

The civil service commission has laid before Secretary Noble complaints that two of his subordinates have been disobeying the law regarding making contributions. The matter will be probed, we are glad to say, and, there is likely to be a punishment for this offense.

Chief Arthur very properly opposes a union of the engineers with the Federation of Labor. Had this union existed in 1885, the engineers would have struck with other D. & R. G. employes. They could then be compelled to take sides with every strike, whether right or wrong and thus would soon lose whatever strength and respect the organization has. The Typographical Union, at its recent meeting in Denver declined to do this. The members did not wish to give any one outside of the order the right to take the head from their months.

As the day of election approaches the apathy of the campaign also disappears. While it cannot be said there is any great danger that any candidate on the republican ticket will be defeated, yet a strong fight is being made against some candidates on the ticket. Slanders and attacks have been made which are found to recoil. The character of these candidates on the republican ticket insure an intelligent and honest management of our county affairs. The issue presented to republicans in this county is not like that presented to republicans in some other counties. There is no reason why the ticket should not have the full and cordious support of every republican voter. We have always believed in the right and duty of bolting a ticket, if the character of the ticket or the manner in which it has been nominated are not in harmony with republican principles and traditions. But it is also the duty of every republican to vote the straight ticket, if there are no objections of a substantial character. We therefore urge our republican readers to see on Monday that their names are registered, and also to be sure and vote on Tuesday. If this election does not involve much in the way of national politics, it at least involves party loyalty.

Our dispatches yesterday stated that Hon. Hannis Taylor thanked Michael Davitt at the close of his speech for the light his speech had thrown on the whole question now before the Parnell commission. This was a most artful and encouraging change in English thought. It is not many years since Davitt was considered as dangerous as a wild beast, and he has spent a fair share of his manhood in jail. This man now, by his sincere love of truth and unselfish devotion to Ireland has at last won the respect of the English people. Perhaps the best brief sketch of his career is given in the great speech of Sir Charles Russell before the commission. In his personal sketches of the members of the land league he gives the following one of Davitt:

Mr. Davitt is the owner of a Manchester hotel. He has had a strong and lucky life. He is a man of [illegible] education, which in different circumstances he is sure to use for his country. He and his people have suffered for hundreds of years from the [illegible] of absentee landlords and the ability which he has displayed, perhaps has not been unmixed with characteristics unlovable, but in spite of all he has no reason to be disheartened, and he has shown his willingness from time to time and fully and [illegible] to give unexpected help where labor could be the ablest and most powerful.

My people [illegible] Ireland, which gives [illegible] any hope, are all represented in the resolutions of a bill of Emerson years of age living with his mother, [illegible] and [illegible] walking of his mother. [illegible] father when he, at [illegible] which belonged to [illegible] available by his present holder. For my book, in these days the poet for Ireland was worthless [illegible] ment for the relief of [illegible] ment for degrading [illegible] seed [illegible] town in Lancashire [illegible] still of tender years, that power of [illegible] would have made [illegible] opinion of a less large man. [illegible] on. Without fear of contradiction I say that the whole course of his life may be examined, among them who have come in contact with him, not one will be found to say that he has been unfaithful to any trust or has been guilty of any dishonorable action. Like [illegible]

[illegible] those [illegible] have [illegible] men [illegible] too, in [illegible] enthusiasts, joined the F[illegible] cause. He knows it, and I dare say he [illegible] would [illegible], that if [illegible] of constitutional effort. [illegible] as to prevent him then, that failing any more [illegible] work for his [illegible] and the [illegible] he would become a certain [illegible] to his duty here, has no regard for his life, and is [illegible] to back [illegible] this question the opportunity in the witness box of [illegible] upon his oath one imputation which [illegible] upon him—that of [illegible] explanation which he will show to your lordships satisfied, to be [illegible] with [illegible] confidence. My lords, in [illegible] nearly [illegible] imprisonment. W. S. MILLER, Sergt. Signal Corps.

Dr. R. B. Sullivan returned yesterday from a visit of several weeks in New York state.

Mr. Everleth states that he does not intend to enter upon his duties as post master until December 1st.

District Attorney Garrison has arrived in the city to begin preparing for his cases to be tried during the coming session of the district court.

A new millinery establishment will open its doors this morning at 130 Pike's Peak avenue, conducted by the Misses Stout and Egbert, formerly from Ionia, Mich.

The Florentine importing company will open up a stock of marbles and alabaster goods in the Bennett building, No. 15 North Tejon street, to-day. The stock includes statuary, vases, urns, card receivers, etc.

Mrs. E. Talbot, of Bucklin, Ford county, Kas., writes the city marshal for information regarding her son who is supposed to be lying sick at some boarding h[illegible] in the city. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will confer a favor by reporting it to Officer Chapman.

Colonel De Forest and Mr. F. W. Griswold, of Troy, N. Y., have sent to friends in the city, from Antelope Park, where they have gone on a fishing excursion, a mess of ninety-six trout, the result of half a day's sport. Twenty-five of the specimens beauties weighed a pound or [illegible] each.

Sherman C[illegible]y was before Justice Shideler yesterday, charged with assault. He plead not guilty and not being ready for trial the case was continued until 10 o'clock this [illegible]ning. The row grew out of what seems to have been a free fight in the streets during the progress of the ball at Handley's livery stable.

An effort is being made to have Walter Jewell, now in jail and awaiting trial for appropriating money belonging to the Manitou Electric Light company, released from jail. It is stated that the company does not wish to p[illegible]ecute him further, and that he has a position offered him by which he can earn money to refund that which he is prosecuted.

Cards were received in the city yesterday announcing the marriage of Mr. John M. Pitts of this city, and Miss Katie Herring of Benton, which will occur at Grace M. E. church, Lafayette square, Baltimore, Wednesday evening, November 6th, 1889, at 6 o'clock. Mr. Pitts has taken the Earle cottage at 214 Pike's Peak avenue.

Dr. E. M. Marbourg is visiting Superintendent Ray, of the Deaf-Mute and Blind Institute. Dr. Marbourg has been for a [illegible] time associated with Dr. Fox, the famous Philadelphia eye specialist, and is likely, regarded as one of the most successful of the young oculists of the country. He goes to [illegible] in Denver in the near future.

The New York World has the following to say about the popular actress, Charlotte Thom[illegible], who will [illegible] at the opera house Monday evening. "The Jane Eyre, of Miss Charlotte Thompson, is a characterization that has long been familiar to theatre goers and it is evident that time does not diminish its popularity. The actress began an engagement in the title role of the well known play, with which she has so long been identified, at the Brooklyn theatre yesterday afternoon and had the close attention of an appreciative audience throughout. Miss Thompson has the faculty of touching the hearts of her audience. With her it is inherent talent rather than an observance of artistic detail that makes her effective, and although there are mannerisms, her palpable sympathy with the character she assumes more than atones for defects in method. The support was the best that has been seen at this house in some time."

MARRIED.

FRYDEN-McVAY—At Colorado Springs, October 31st, by the Rev. Ira O. Seymour, Frank J. Fryden, of Fort Scott, Kans., and Miss Nellie McVay, of Albany, Ohio.

AGENT FOR AUSTIN BLUFF LOTS. The finest suburban residence location—combining view of mountain and plain—in the state. [illegible]ful parks, overgrown with large pine trees; unequalled as a health location; pure air, pure water, no smoke, no dust, plenty of sunshine. Lots in this beautiful suburb are large size, from one to four acres, being thus well adapted for fine residences. Only twenty minutes drive from center of our city. A motor line is already projected and will no doubt be built this coming season. Do not fail to examine this locality before purchasing. Carriage always in attendance to show property.

ALSO AGENT for the most desirable lots in Boulder Heights Addition. We handle only first class properties, and can guarantee satisfaction in every case. Buy only the best. If it does not pay you to invest in a desirable locality it certainly will not pay you to invest at all. Choice properties, improved and unimproved, in all parts of the city.

Choice Lots for Sale in the North End Additions.

LOTS ON CASCADE AVENUE from $250 upward. The Street Car Line is now extended to these additions, and parties looking for low priced homes on the main avenue of our city should examine these properties at once.
